

NE INDIA

8 – 30 April 2023

Rob Gordijn & Helen Rijkse (gordijnrob@gmail.com) - <http://www.penguinbirding.com>

Introduction

Our last visit to India was in 2012 so a next visit was due. We chose the North-East because the mouthwatering set of species (and landscapes, and food). This destination had been on our radar for many years, and this spring the plan came together. We were joined by our friends Sjoerd Radstaak, Jelmer Poelstra, Marten Hornsveld & Vivian Jacobs and as a total group of 6 people this worked out very well. Most of NE India cannot be done independently so we arranged the help of Peter Lobo (All India Birding Tours) and with 2 cars with drivers and a guide we set out for an awesome 3-week adventure. This was a great destination to visit with our friends and, as none of us had been in the area, everyone came home with an impressive list of new birds. In total we saw 511 species, of which 137(!) were lifers for us.

Itinerary

| | | |
|--------|--------------------|--|
| Day 1 | Saturday 8 April | Flight Amsterdam – New Delhi |
| Day 2 | Sunday 9 April | New Delhi – Imphal (arrival 12.00) – afternoon birding south of Imphal |
| Day 3 | Monday 10 April | Imphal – Khonoma – birding from 14.00 till dusk |
| Day 4 | Tuesday 11 April | Khonoma birding (morning on trail to ridge, afternoon along road and lower down above village) |
| Day 5 | Wednesday 12 April | Khonoma (another attempt at Spot-breasted Laughingthrush) – drive to Kaziranga – afternoon birding in tea estate |
| Day 6 | Thursday 13 April | Early morning birding in picnic area – morning safari and afternoon safari inside Kaziranga |
| Day 7 | Friday 14 April | Drive towards Dirang with birding along road at several points |
| Day 8 | Saturday 15 April | Manda La all day |
| Day 9 | Sunday 16 April | Se La all day |
| Day 10 | Monday 17 April | Morning birding in Lower Manda La & Sangti valley – late afternoon Bugun trail below Lama Camp (Eaglenest WLS) |
| Day 11 | Tuesday 18 April | Lama Camp all day |
| Day 12 | Wednesday 19 April | Morning below Lama camp, birding from pass down to Bompou camp |
| Day 13 | Thursday 20 April | Birding along road below Bompou camp |
| Day 14 | Friday 21 April | Birding along road above Bompou camp |
| Day 15 | Saturday 22 April | Drive and birding along road Bompou – Sessni – Khellong – Kaziranga |
| Day 16 | Sunday 23 April | Early morning birding outside park, morning safari Kaziranga – long drive Tinsukia |

|--------|--------------------|--|
| Day 17 | Monday 24 April | Dibru Saikhowa NP – Roing – Jia Grasslands |
| Day 18 | Tuesday 25 April | Roing – Mayodia pass |
| Day 19 | Wednesday 26 April | Mishmi Hills |
| Day 20 | Thursday 27 April | Mishmi Hills to Tinsukia |
| Day 21 | Friday 28 April | Dehing Paktai NP |
| Day 22 | Saturday 29 April | Maguri Beel (until 9am) – drive to Dibrugarh – flight to New Delhi (departure 15.15) |
| Day 23 | Sunday 30 April | Flight New Delhi - Amsterdam |

We timed our trip at the same time as most tours for the last 3 weeks of April. The timing of the trips is quite important: high elevation birds are lower down in winter (into March), but wintering species leave by March and the wet season start from May (Kaziranga closes in the first week of May). Birds obviously sing more in spring, but the tragopans are probably more active in March. Also, Ibisbill is still very much possible around this time and higher elevation species like the bush-robins are much easier found. On the other hand, enigmatic species like cochoas are harder and Bengal Florican isn't jumping around in Kaziranga yet. Moreover, Gould's Shortwing returns to Se La pass in the second half of May but migrates through the Mishmi hills around the second half of April (when Rusty-bellied Shortwing is also back), so the choice of the weeks matters quite a lot for which species to focus on for different sites.

Some notes on the itinerary:

- Initially we asked Peter to include Meluri in the itinerary for the Yellow-throated Laughingthrush, but he suggested to go to Imphal instead. We thought this made sense regarding driving times so we opted for Imphal instead. During our trip we heard from other groups that the habitat at Meluri is disappearing rapidly, and more tours now also go to Imphal instead. Grassland-birding (Jerdon's Bushchat) around Imphal is possible as well which we did not explore. Meluri does provide a chance for Moustached Laughingthrush though.
- We initially planned to stay in Lama camp for one night, but we didn't find the Liocichla on the first day so decided to stay another night – luckily this was possible even with the several tour groups also birding through Eaglenest WLS.
- Bompou camp was the most disappointing part of the trip: lots of hard work and very little activity. Not sure if the high number of birders (and playback) played a role or whether we were just unlucky.
- In contrast, the Mishmi Hills were very kind to us. We only had a very short period of rain and the birds were very active. We left Mishmi Hills one day earlier than planned and added a visit to Dehing Patkai NP.
- Although the Mishmi Hills have a few localized species, there is a quite some overlap with Eaglenest NP (and not all trips include the Mishmi Hills in their itinerary). We were very happy that we visited both: after the disappointing birding around Bompou camp we still had not seen some important targets (Beautiful Nuthatch, Ward's Trogon, Green Cochoa) which all worked out beautifully in the Mishmi Hills.
- A boat trip to Dibru Saikhowa NP (river islands) was initially not in our plan that we agreed on with Peter. However, when we asked him a couple of days before if this would be possible, Peter arranged this and we paid the boat directly. This is a good place to connect with Swamp Grass Babbler, Jerdon's Babbler, Marsh Babbler and Black-breasted Parrotbill (missed here).
- We only had three weeks available for the trip so we had to make some choices. Possible extensions in the same area would be: Meghalaya (Tawny-breasted Babbler), Namdapha NP (Snowy-throated Babbler and more) and Nameri NP (White-winged Duck).

Most important species we tried for but dipped:

- Ibisbill – most birds leave the area by March, so we didn't really expect to see it in advance, but an individual was seen in Sangti Valley before and after our visit (...).
- Alpine Thrush – most often seen at Se La, should be easier later in the season when they are singing.
- Rufous-breasted Bush Robin – another altitudinal migrant. Chewang saw one at the Myzornis-site at Se La but we couldn't locate it again. The other possible Bush-Robin (White-browed) was HO.
- Rufous-vented Laughingthrush – difficult species from the foothills, sometimes found around Khellong.

What would we do different in hindsight?

The flexibility in the itinerary was ideal, which meant that we could make changes on the go (which we did). Of course, we missed a few species but in hindsight we were very happy with everything we saw, the itinerary and the flexibility.

Other birders

We have never met so many birders and tour groups during a birding trip, even though we made our itinerary with the tour schedules in mind (trying to avoid them as much as possible). We met Rockjumper, BirdQuest, lots of Indian birders and a mixed flock of British and Australian birders, dubbed as the 'braussies' by us. Birders were everywhere during this trip!

Practicalities

Guiding

We arranged our trip through Peter Lobo of <https://allindiabirdingtours.com/> Communication beforehand was efficient and the organization during the trip was perfect for our needs. Due to the schedules of other tour groups we were guided by Papu Choudhury for the first 5 days and Chewang Bonpo for the remainder of the trip. Both were excellent although quite different in approach.

Literature

Fieldguides: We brought Birds of India (Grimmett & Inskipp) & Birds of South Asia (Rasmussen). We read a few trip reports (mainly BQ & BTA) in preparation of the trip. And although this was a fully guided trip, we gathered quite an impressive list of GPS-locations through Observado.org & eBird.

Relevant apps: Merlin & Birds of India were very useful and we gathered an additional set of bird sounds from Xeno-Canto.

Travelling

We had the luxury of cars with drivers throughout the trip – we had almost no car trouble: one morning the headlights of one of the cars broke, which was a bit tricky while driving up to Se La in the dark but the drivers repaired it that same afternoon. And one afternoon a shock absorber broke, which the drivers repaired while we birded along the road below Bompou. Although we had fulltime drivers and guides, a local sim card still came in handy to gather extra information from eBird along the way. Airtel has a desk for local sims in international arrivals in New Delhi where we paid a small amount for a month of data.

Eating & Sleeping

Hotels/camps were chosen by Peter Lobo based on our itinerary and they all seemed logical:

- Imphal (1 night): Hotel Imolesh
- Khonoma (2 nights): Khonoma homestay
- Kaziranga NP (2 + 1 nights): Bonhabi resort (2 nights in week 1 and one more night when coming back)
- Dirang (3 nights): Hotel Pemaling
- Eaglenest WLS (5 nights): 2 nights Lama Camp + 3 nights Bompou camp (initially 1 night at Lama, 4 at Bompou)
- Tinsukia (1 + 1 night): Hotel Centre Point (extra night arranged last minute since we left Mishmi Hills earlier to visit Dehing Paktai NP)
- Roing (1 night): Hotel Yatri Niwas
- Mishmi Hills (2 nights): Mayodiya Guest House (initially planned to stay here 3 nights but we had seen all targets after 2 nights)

Food was especially good in the Bonhabi resort (Kaziranga) and Hotel Centre Point (Tinsukia) but throughout the food was great. Our guide and drivers each day arranged packed breakfast/lunch or a good roadside stop with local food. The only really basic accommodation was the dilapidated building used as a hotel at Mayodia pass (Mishmi Hills). The alternative seems to be driving up from Roing every day which would take more than two hours one way, also less than ideal.

Weather / Timing

Spring can be rainy, but we had very dry sunny weather throughout most of the trip. This meant that almost no birding time was lost due to rain. We had a rainy late afternoon in Bompou camp, a whole afternoon of rain when driving from Kaziranga NP to Tinsukia (no birding time lost since this was a travel day), a short shower in Mishmi Hills and a rainy start of the day in Dehing Patkai NP. Especially Mishmi Hills is known for its rain (other trip reports mention multiple days of almost constant rain) so our experience there seems exceptional.

Health and safety

We felt very safe and welcome throughout our trip and we didn't take any specific precautions for the trip. Shortly after our trip local unrest in Manipur (including Imphal) arose which is still ongoing while writing this report. We had no encounters with elephants. In Arunachal Pradesh there are many army camps given the close proximity to the border with China. Some of the group experienced some minor stomach problems but nothing serious enough to slow down any birding. Se La Pass is at 4200m and therefore has a risk of high-altitude sickness.

Money

ATMS are widespread. Since we paid our trip in advance we only needed some cash for tips and drinks.

Costs

- Tickets: We initially planned to fly with Finnair but our first leg from Amsterdam was cancelled so booked another option. We flew Amsterdam – New Delhi with KLM (direct) for 665 euro and returning we flew Indigo/Turkish Airlines via Istanbul for 490 euro. The local legs from New Delhi to Imphal and from Dibrugarh to Delhi were about 100 euro pp.
- Trip costs for the 6 person trip came to 2300 euro per person.
- Other expenses (tips, drinks etc): around 150 euro per person in total.

Visited Sites

In preparation for the trip, we gathered quite a few GPS-locations of specific species from eBird and Observado.org, email us if you are interested in the preparation file.

Please note since this was an organized trip we mostly focus on the overall birding strategy and experience of each place, but do not share the exact location of specific targets like we do usually.

Imphal/Saiton

Our flight from Delhi arrived around noon. We were met by our guide Papu and we set off with our convoy of two cars. After a 2-hour drive, we reached the birding spot near Saiton. It was very warm, sunny and windy so no ideal birding conditions. Despite the low activity, we quickly found our target bird, the Yellow-throated Laughingthrush (group of around 10 birds), and also the first Rufous-necked Laughingthrushes of the trip. It seems that this area is a reliable stakeout for the Yellow-throated Laughingthrush.

Khonoma

General

The habitat and scenery were beautiful here and with a pleasant altitude of around 1500 meters this made for excellent birding. The Khonoma homestay is located in the Khonoma village and from there it is only a short drive to where the birding begins.

Birding experience

We birded here for one afternoon, one full day and another short morning. The first afternoon we started birding around 2pm (after driving from Imphal all morning). Despite the suboptimal midday sun and wind, we managed to see quite a few birds throughout the afternoon, including three new laughingthrushes (Assam, Striped, and Blue-winged) and a neat Yellow-rumped Honeyguide. The next day we left the homestay at 4.30 am. We made a few stops along the road (highlight was our first Spotted Elachura—a new family tick!) After some roadside birding, we had breakfast by the car and then hiked up the trail. The activity was rewarding, and the beautiful trail made for an excellent morning. Naga Wren-babbler cooperated along the way and at the top we had a good but brief encounter with Blyth's Tragopan. Jelmer picked out the call of a Bianchi's Warbler (new for Papu and overall rare for India, although it seems overlooked since we found more during our trip). After hiking back down the mountain (total ascend 500 meters) we had lunch at the car around noon. We then did some birding along the road (mostly hot and quiet). As we hadn't found any swallows and swifts yet and there were more sightings around the village according to eBird, we drove lower down and found a mixed group of Blyth's Swift including Himalayan Swiftlet and one Dark-rumped Swift, plus many Asian House Martin with one Nepal House Martin. We made another attempt for the Spot-breasted Laughingthrush but only heard it. On the last morning we tried again for Spot-breasted Laughingthrush, but on 2 occasions it stayed hidden and heard only. Final stop was below the village at some scrub for White-browed Laughingthrush and Spot-breasted Parrotbill. We then started our drive towards Kaziranga.

Kaziranga

General

The diverse habitats, including grasslands, wetlands, and forests, attract a wide range of birdlife. Popular destination for tourists given the big mammals that occur here (Indian Rhino, Bengal Tiger). There are many tourists, and this can get annoying along the roads in the park.

We visited Kaziranga NP 2 times during the trip, first between Khonoma and Dirang, and then again on the way back from Eaglenest WLS before driving to Tinsukia. This gave us the opportunity to do 3 safaris (2x morning and 1x afternoon). The park opens at 7.30 so a morning session is 7.30-12, and then the afternoon 1.30-5 pm. It is not allowed to go in with your own car (you enter in open safari jeeps arranged by the park). The use of speakers and laser pens is strictly prohibited in the park, making birding (and especially the skulking birds) extra difficult.

There are several sections of the park, each with their own entrance. We chose to go the central entrance every visit, based on eBird this seems to be the most birded area. Birding outside the park can be very rewarding as well and is essential for a few species.

Birding experience

Tea plantation (first afternoon): After a long drive from Khonoma we arrived at Kaziranga around 4pm and spent the last couple of hours birding in a tea plantation. The tea plantation turned out to be a haven for birds, and we quickly ticked off our target species. The highlight was the sighting of Blue-naped Pitta, but we were also very happy to encounter Chestnut-winged Cuckoo and Pale-chinned Blue Flycatcher. As dusk approached, we managed to tape in an Oriental Scops Owl.

Recreational park and local roads (2 early mornings): Since Kaziranga NP only opens at 7.30 we had some time on both safari days to do a short birding session before breakfast close to the hotel. A couple of our target birds favor this open cultivated landscape, and we were able to find Chestnut-bellied Nuthatch, White-throated Bulbul, Yellow-vented Flowerpecker and Fulvous-breasted Woodpecker.

Kaziranga NP jeep safari (day 1 + one morning): Split between two jeeps, one headed to the entrance gate to secure a place in the queue, while the other went to the office for permits (where a crowd had already gathered). After a wait in the jeep we obtained our permits, paid the camera fees (200 rupee per camera), and finally entered the park at 7.40 am through the central range entrance. The first stretch of grassland is good for Bengal Florican which we found on our last morning visit. For the rest of the reserve we drove in a constant convoy of open jeeps, making occasional stops along the same route, making use of occasional lulls in traffic for birding and visiting the watch tower near the lake. Highlights: Swamp Francolin, Greater Adjutant, Dusky Eagle Owl, Indian Grassbird (HO), Slender-billed Babbler & Finn's Weaver. Other good birds were Pallas's Fish Eagle, Chinese Rubythroat and Bengal Bush Lark.

En route to Dirang

Just west of Kaziranga NP: At 5 am, we set off towards the mountains. We made a few short stops near Kaziranga NP, hoping to spot the Bengal Florican or Bar-headed Goose (based on recent eBird sightings), but unfortunately, we had no luck. On the way back (almost a week later) it turned out that a Bar-headed Goose group was still present along the road and we did see them there after all.

Beyond Tezpur: Along the river beyond Tezpur we scanned the river at various spots, finding River Lapwing but no Ibisbill (they migrate out of this area earlier in the year). A bit higher up around Sessna we found Yellow-throated Fulvetta, Rufous-backed Sibia and Yellow vented Warbler but no Blyth's Kingfisher.

Roadside birding before Dirang: After entering Arunachal Pradesh and having lunch at a small roadside restaurant we began with some roadside birding. The road (starting around here: 27.2939, 92.4278) goes through several patches of good forest that hold similar species as the lower Manda La road. For the rest of the afternoon, we leisurely observed birds along the road while our cars followed us. There was plenty of activity, and we added three laughingthrush species (Striated, Chestnut-capped and Bhutan) and two parrotbill species (Black-throated and White-bellied) to our list, along Rufous-throated Wren-babbler, Slender-billed Scimitar Babbler, Black-faced Warbler and many other new birds. As darkness fell around 5.30 pm we continued our journey towards Dirang, arriving at the hotel in the dark - just as the first rain of the trip began.

Manda La

General

We birded from the pass down in both directions and also birded lower down towards Dirang on the lowest parts of the road.

Birding

We left the hotel in Dirang by 4.00 am for the drive to Manda La pass. With the first light, we reached an altitude of 3000m, and we put on our warm layers. We started birding and quickly realized that we were not the only birders here today. The birds started out quite active, but it was very sunny, causing the temperature to rise rapidly. In the early morning we found Hume's and Grey-sided Bush Warbler and we heard a Temminck's Tragopan higher up. We also encountered our first Black-faced and Spotted Laughingthrush, Yellow-billed Blue Magpie, Grey-crested Tit, Rufous-bellied Woodpecker, Crimson-browed Finch and more. We continued down along the road, hoping to find Fire-tailed Myzornis, but unfortunately no luck. A temporary army camp is set up along the road a bit below the pass which means birding that stretch of the road is not possible. We walked a bit further along the road but birding was slow (highlights Sikkim Treecreeper, Brown-throated Fulvetta, Brown Parrotbill and Himalayan Cutia). Back at the top, we saw our first and only Red-headed Bullfinches. After a quick lunch break at the village, we ventured out again at 12.30 pm. Again it was quiet, but we manage to spot a flock with Red-tailed Minla and Rufous-fronted Bush-tit. At the end of the afternoon, we descended to lower areas with agricultural fields and found Tickell's Thrush, Black-throated Prinia, and a sneaky Rufous-chinned Laughingthrush. Given the list of possible birds at Manda La and experiences of other trip reports, it feels that activity was lower due to the bright sunny and hot weather during the day.

Se La Pass

General

Se La is quite a long drive from Dirang. Success is very dependent on the weather. We had some miscommunication about lunch – better to be prepared and bring some food to spend the entire day up there if weather allows it.

Birding

By 3.30 am we were on our way to the pass. We started scanning for Himalayan Monal from the switchbacks and were rewarded with a fantastic sighting of a pair of Monals and Blood Pheasants. With the Rosefinches being active, we managed to see all six species that can be found here. While exploring a side trail just beyond the pass, we didn't find the rare White-browed Tit-warbler, but did encounter another Monal and later spotted the first Snow Pigeons. As we drove downhill, Solitary Snipe was not present at the marsh, so we backtracked towards the pass and tried for Grandala and Tibetan Blackbird. As the weather worsened near the lake's edge, mist rolled up the mountain and we were treated to a magnificent sight of a group of ~30 Grandalas flying down into the valley and landing nearby. We then drove back to the pass for a final attempt for Snow Partridges. Jelmer saw them shortly high up on the slope and after a challenging climb (given the altitude), we finally spotted two pairs of Snow Partridges foraging and being very approachable. We then drove down to the location for Fire-tailed Myzornis where there were plenty of blooming Rhododendron flowers, but at 2 pm the atmosphere was rather quiet. The search took until 4 pm when the weather cleared up and a pair came foraging up from out of the valley giving excellent views.

Sangti Valley

This is a side-valley from Dirang and a well-known place for Ibisbill earlier in the year. After a late start at 5.30 (to give the drivers some rest after the long Se La day) with Yellow-breasted Greenfinch next to the hotel and some birding at the lower Manda La road, we arrived at the Sangti Valley around 10 am. A very late Ibisbill had been reported three days ago. And although we didn't expect to find the bird since they were supposed to have left by now, it still created a sense of excitement. We thoroughly scanned the river, first from the road and then by walking along the river, but unfortunately, the Ibisbill was nowhere to be seen. Painfully a couple of days later another sighting was reported. Other highlights at the Sangti Valley were Long-billed Plover and Crested Bunting.

Eaglenest - Lama Camp

General

Eaglenest Wildlife Sanctuary (WLS) is maybe the best-known destination for birdwatchers in NE India. We had talked, dreamt, and read about the place for years. There is a (bad) dirtroad through the reserve that gives the opportunity to enter on one side and bird through the reserve in several days (we entered from the Dirang side and left via Khellong on the southern end). There are 2 camps that are set up to cater to big groups: Lama Camp and Bompou Camp. At Lama camp there is only one big target to see: the Bugun Liocichla (only discovered in 1995). Most other targets can also be found on the Bompou Camp side. Therefore, we had initially planned one night at Lama and 4 nights at Bompou - but after an unsuccessful search the first full day we decided to stay another night. This might be a good strategy if you want to try for Temminck's Tragopan as well, as the drive to the pass is a lot easier from the Lama camp side than from Bompou camp.

Birding

We arrived at the Bugun Liocichla trail around 3.45 pm, which gave the opportunity for some first exploration. The next day we were up at 4.30 am, a quick cup of tea, and by 5.00 am we walked from the camp towards the trail again (sometimes they are also seen along the road). To sum up the results of the day: we didn't manage to see it. We spent almost the entire day along the stretch of road where recent sightings had been reported (including 3 birds the previous day by the 'Braussies'). We had breakfast and lunch by the roadside, and while some of the others took a walk along the trail to look for it there, Helen and I remained above, gazing into the vegetation. Throughout the day we saw quite a few species, but the overall feeling was disappointment. The next day the alarm was set earlier (3.30 am) so we could start at dawn at the Bugun area. As the dawn chorus filled the air in the dark, we walked downhill, hoping to hear the Bugun but not a sound. Once at the bottom, we took our positions at various gullies, and Chewang went back to a spot higher up to search (he once had a breeding sighting there). He promised to send the cars down if he finds it. And after an hour of searching (with a quick Ward's Trogon for us) we heard the cars coming in fast, the whole group was picked up and after several suspenseful minutes waiting beside Chewang, we all saw a pair of Bugun Liocichla. They gave a fantastic display, both in sight and sound. Ultimately, it took us about 16 hours of searching to find it. Other highlights not (much) seen elsewhere included Scaly Laughingthrush, Scarlet Finch and White-throated Laughingthrush.

Eaglenest – Bompou Camp

Between Lama and Bompou Camp you first climb up to a pass before going down again. This pass is good for Temminck's Tragopan. We came through this stretch at the end of the morning (after finding the Bugun that morning) and birded from the pass down toward Bompou on our first afternoon. The heat and wind were not ideal, but we managed to find a couple of targets like Green Shrike-babbler, Bar-winged Wren-babbler and Broad-billed Warbler. We tried hard for Ward's Trogon around the top, but did not succeed. From Bompou the drive to the pass is very long especially given the bad road. So if you want to try for Temminck's Tragopan here early morning, it really requires an early start (we didn't try anymore since other targets weren't really cooperating either at Bompou).

We had an afternoon, 2 full days and another morning to bird around Bompou Camp. On the first afternoon after arriving at the camp (and late lunch) we walked up from the camp having excellent sightings of Sikkim Wedge-billed Babbler and Long-billed Wren-Babbler. The next morning, we birded our way down to Sessni camp in the morning and walked back up in the afternoon (with mist and a rainy end of the afternoon). During the day we slowly picked up new targets like White-naped Yuhina, Black-crowned Scimitar Babbler and Rufous-necked Hornbill. We tried for Beautiful Nuthatch many times, but found zero. The second full day we birded above Bompou for the full day, mainly for Ward's Trogon. We couldn't find it here, but did find other good birds like Himalayan Thrush (on the road), Blue-fronted Robin and Black-headed Shrike-babbler. Not much else this day, but we did enjoy Red-tailed Minla, Blue-winged Minla and Bar-throated Minla in one flock.

Eaglenest – Khellong

This is the lower end of the Eaglenest WLS. It is quite a long drive from Bompou camp so we decided to only visit this area on our last morning when we proceeded to the lowlands again afterwards, back to Kaziranga. We tried for Beautiful Nuthatch again, only finding another Rufous-necked Hornbill. There are 2 areas to bird:

- Bamboo zone (27.0230, 92.41564): very different habitat than higher up in the reserve, with a set of lower-altitude bamboo species to be found.. It was already hot and the activity wasn't very high, but with some effort, we manage to add Large Blue Flycatcher, Pale-headed Woodpecker and a flock of Pale-billed Parrotbills. We also added some other new species like Striated Yuhina, Rufous-faced Warbler, Grey-headed Parrotbill and both Wedge-tailed and Pin-tailed Green Pigeon,
- River (26.99035, 92.42093): The second stop we made is at the bridge where it is possible to walk over the boulders to a good viewpoint for Blyth's Kingfisher (a quick fly-by seen by some). Brown Dipper and Crested Kingfisher were also here. Around 10.30 am we decided to move on towards Kaziranga NP.

Tinsukia area

Birding

- Dibru Saikhowa NP (river islands): Initially we had planned a visit to Maguri Beel but not the river islands. A couple of days before we arrived in Tinsukia we contacted Peter, and it was possible to arrange a boat last minute. We departed at 4.30 am from the hotel, drove to the river to board a large boat (around 5 am) and headed upstream towards the river islands. On the first island (5.45 am), we found Sand Lark and Marsh Grass Babbler, on the second island (7.30 am) Jerdon's and Marsh Babbler were seen, but unfortunately, the Black-breasted Parrotbill was not at home. As the sun broke through and it started getting hot, it was time to head back (around 9.10 am). The return journey was much faster with the current, and by 9.30 am we were in the car driving towards Roing.
- Vulture point en route: Along the road towards Roing there's a village with breeding White-rumped Vultures – we didn't enter the village but made a few stops along the main road and found the vultures circling.
- Dehing Patkai NP: Because of our successful stay at Mishmi Hills, we had one day extra which we decided to spend in Dehing Pakai NP. This is an area of lowland forest a one-hour drive from Tinsukia and when we arrived it was raining. We had arranged a local guide who knows the forest really well and during the day we saw many birds, main highlights being Austen's Brown Hornbill, White-cheeked Partridge, Pale-capped Pigeon, Chestnut-backed Laughingthrush and an unexpected Brown Fish Owl.
- Maguri Beel: Our last morning before we drove to the airport at Dibrugarh we spent a few final hours birding the wetlands at Maguri Beel. Highlights were Blunt-winged warbler, Spotted Bush Warbler and some waterfowl.

Jia Grasslands

Birding

These grasslands are en route while driving from Tinsukia to Roing. Since the Jia Grasslands are after the border crossing with Arunachal Pradesh we first needed to get permission and some paperwork done at the police station in Roing. After that was sorted out, we drove back to the Jia Grassland for some late afternoon birding. It did not take long before we found the desired Black-breasted Parrotbill in the high elephant grass along the stream. Smoky Warbler was another welcome addition to the list.

Mishmi Hills

General

Although the Mishmi Hills has a few localized specialties, there is a quite some overlap with Eaglenest WLS. We were very happy that we visited both and were lucky with the weather in Mishmi Hills, since this gave us the opportunity to find several targets that we had already tried for around Bompou. The best birding was done on the other side of the pass (maybe less birding pressure here?). Given that we stayed at the "Haunted house" at Mayodia pass the driving distances were ok for both sides of the pass.

Birding

Lower section: At 4.30 am, we started driving uphill from Roing. The first stop was at km6 where we mainly looked for bamboo specialists.. It took a while for the bird activity to pick up, but eventually, we managed to find Collared Treepie, a skulky Spot-throated Babbler, Red-billed Scimitar-Babbler and a flock of White-hooded Babblers and Pale-billed Parrotbills. A showy Spotted Elechura was also much appreciated.

Middle section (around Tiwari): One of our big targets was Beautiful Nuthatch. The habitat looked promising and apparently there have been recent sightings, but we still couldn't find it. A Cachar Wedge-billed Babbler cooperated nicely (we saw more after) and we got very close to a Green Cochoa, but it slipped away. The next day we were more lucky as we managed to see the Green Cochoa very well. As a bonus, we spotted a Rufous-bellied Eagle and Silver-backed Needletails. That evening we returned for some night birding which resulted in a very nice cooperating Hodgson's Frogmouth.

Upper section: Climbing up further a stakeout gully for Mishmi Wren Babbler gave us a good view of this only recently rediscovered bird. The rest of the first afternoon we mainly focused on finding the Ward's Trogon. Fortunately, just before dark, we had success with two female Trogons that showed well. The next day we had a group of 6 Trogons in the same area. Brown Bullfinch was also here, and we enjoyed a showy pair of Golden-naped Finches (only seen once at Manda La Road). The barwings here were our first Streak-throated Barwings, Hoary-throated does not occur here.

Around/after the pass: First stop after the pass is a gully for the Gould's Shortwing. We were fortunate as two birds responded quickly. They didn't come very close for photos, but we got excellent views! Happy with the sighting, we moved on to the next spot for the Rusty-bellied Shortwing. It started to rain slowly, but the bird responded far down below in the valley.. The shortwing quickly emerged in the bamboo in front of us and showed itself very well. Nice! We quickly headed back to the car to avoid getting even wetter. We drove to Hotel 65, a small hotel/restaurant along the road for some shelter and a nice hot breakfast. The next morning, we returned to the pass and were treated with a spectacular encounter of a male Blyth's Tragopan that crossed the road and then gave perfect views sitting in a tree.

Lower section east side of pass: Given our effective birding at the pass we had time to drive further down. We stopped around 1700m where the rain had mostly stopped. We hadn't walked far when a Beautiful Nuthatch responded fiercely and showed itself very closeby. We continued walking and spotted four more Beautiful Nuthatches higher up. Just as we were about to head back to the car, we heard a Purple Cochoa calling. The sound seemed to echo on the slope, but we quickly located its source and less than a minute later there was a pair of Purple Cochoas in full view.

ANNOTATED SPECIES LIST

We have tried to accurately indicate the proper subspecies for all our observations, usually based on geographic locations based on the IOC World Bird List version 13.2. We tried to keep detailed notes throughout the trip but especially commoner species might not have been written down daily. The Triplist is generated with iGoterra trips, see www.igoterra.com for details. We have a file available with exact locations for all observations – email us if interested.
